

Artspace 1- Hour Residencies – Booking Now for February 22nd – 5:30pm-6:30pm

What are the 1-Hour Residencies?

The Coventry Artspace (www.coventry-artspace.co.uk) 1-Hour Residencies were created when some of the members were inspired by two nuns who have been offering "online retreats" to help pay the bills at their Benedictine monastery in Oxfordshire. After thinking about what an online retreat could be, we decided that meeting up is often much more preferable – and were inspired to create the 1-Hour Residencies.

Why would I like to come?

Through the Artspace 1-Hour Residencies, we aim to provide up to 10 artists and creative practitioners with a short period of time and space away from their usual studio/work environment. They can be for reflective discussion, research, presentation and/or production, the idea is that people attending guide each other throughout the process, providing mutual support and with time to speak, listen and sometimes create. As a general starting point, we've provided simple themes which are designed to spark ideas and the group are encouraged to think of starting points for future discussion or exploration at each event.

Where are the 1-Hour Residencies?

The 1-Hour Residencies are designed to take place in pubs of interest (historical, atmospheric or otherwise) – so that artists can continue to socialise after the residency is complete. The next residency dates and location is as follows:

Date and Time: Wednesday 22nd February 2012 - 5:30pm-6:30pm

1-Hour Residency Theme: Sound

Location: Inspires Bar, Christchurch Spire, New Union St, Coventry, West Midlands CV1 2PS (Usually followed by informal drinks in the same area)

Who are the 1-Hour Residencies for?

Artists and creative people working in any and across art forms that are looking for a short break and to share practise based discussions with other artists. They are also for academics, emergent practitioners, curators, and all kinds of creative people.

How do I come to a 1-Hour Residency?

Places are limited to 10 to ensure that the residencies are as inclusive and involved as possible. Separate bookings will be required for each event. To book your place email:
